Reading

Task 1

Read the text below. Match choices (A – H) to (1–5). There are three choices you do not need to use. Write your answers on the separate answer sheet.

You Are What You Think You Are

1. _____

It is very common for teenagers to have a negative image of their own bodies. They insist they are hopelessly ugly, no matter how much their parents and friends tell them otherwise! Magazine problem pages and Internet blogs are full of agonized accounts. The young people who write them are convinced they are unattractive and therefore unloved and rejected by others.

2. _____

Why do teenagers see themselves in an unflattering way? The fact is, puberty has a lot to do with it. During your early teens, the body is preparing itself for adulthood. New chemicals are moving around the body as it adjusts to adult hormone levels. The body alters its shape, sometimes resulting in puppy fat. Skin problems such as acne are also common. Teens are affected psychologically too. They become confused and anxious about their changing appearance. This in turn can lead to feelings of insecurity and low self-esteem.

3. _____

Nor is the situation helped by the media. Young people are bombarded with images of the ideal body. Top fashion models in glossy magazines are all far taller and skinnier than the average woman. They have their hair and make-up done professionally. After a fashion shoot, magazine editors have the photographs airbrushed before they are published to give the models a flawless complexion. Male actors in epic films flex beautifully toned rippling muscles. But more than likely, they have had them digitally enhanced, or “photoshopped”, as they call it in the trade. Not to mention the fact that many celebrities choose to have cosmetic surgery done to enhance their appearance. None of this reflects a realistic body image, so it’s no wonder adolescents are made to feel inadequate and unsure of themselves.

4. _____

The good news is that, however dissatisfied you are with your looks, the chances are it’s only temporary! Those extra kilos and that spotty skin usually disappear by themselves in time. While your body is sorting itself out and “settling into” its final form, you need to ride out the change! Resist the temptation to compare yourself with your peers. This is easier said than done when you are the tallest girl in your class or the only boy who has started growing a beard. You tend to feel the odd one out and may even get teased or bullied. Just remember that although teens' bodies change at different speeds, everyone ends up at more or less the same place in the end!

5. _____

It's important to realise what things you can change about yourself and what things you can't. Correct diet and exercise can do wonders for your appearance. Having your hair restyled, your nails manicured or your teeth whitened will also help boost your self-confidence. The things you can't alter, like your height or your shoe size, should be seen as strengths and not weaknesses. They are, after all, the features that make you a unique individual!

(Adapted from: Virginia Evans, Jenny Dooley (Eds.). (2016). Prime Time 4. Student's Book. Express Publishing. P.108)

- A Physical traits can reveal your personality
- B Many teenagers worry about their appearance
- C Adolescence is the time that influences your mental well-being
- D People who post selfies are more open to new experiences
- E Teens develop at a different rate
- F Fashion models have their appearance improved artificially
- G An increasing number of teens change their image through plastic surgery
- H Social media use has no impact on self-esteem, body image and body dissatisfaction

Task 2

Read the text below. For questions (6–10) choose the correct answer (A, B, C or D). Write your answers on the separate answer sheet.

Why Fathers Want to Look after the Baby

One of the most extensive surveys of fathers has now shown that, far from the stereotype, most men would like to share childcare duties with their partners or wives.

The survey made by the Equal Opportunities Commission shows a modern type of father: the New Dad. He takes part in day-to-day childcare and does not mind helping with the vacuuming and washing-up – if only when his partner asks him to. The EOC interviewed sixty-four fathers and their partners about their home and work life. Most fathers agreed that it was important to 'be there' for their children for key events such as school sports day, their first appearance in the school play and for at least one meal a day. Many agreed that parenting classes would be a good way to give them more confidence around the home.

Based on the survey results, four types of fathers were defined, from the traditional type of dad to the perfect New Dad, who is as much involved in taking care of the children as the mother. The survey found that the majority of men were somewhere between these two types.

In the first category comes Enforcer Dad, the old-fashioned disciplinarian who does not see himself as involved in the day-to-day care of his children. He sees his responsibilities as setting clear limits for them and being a role model. Most fathers do not see this as their only role.

The two biggest categories are Entertainer Dad and Useful Dad. Entertainer Dad is at his best keeping his children laughing while his partner gets on with household chores and arranging the children's school and extra activities. Useful Dad is willing to help out around the house, even though he expects the mother to be the "team leader" in all things domestic.

Finally, and probably every woman's dream, is Fully Involved Dad. He is equally engaged in running the home and the family, and sees the role of the father and the mother as practically identical. Fully Involved Dads adjust their work arrangements to their partners' professional duties. "I do have definite childcare commitments," said one father in this category. “There are certain times or occasions where it is non-negotiable and I just leave the office on time.”

Julie Melior, chairwoman of the EOC, said that fathers were still not given enough flexibility at work and mothers would feel fully supported only if employers treated (and paid) both sexes equally. “Mums and dads should be able to choose how they want to share the responsibilities of bringing up children and working outside the home,” she said. “But until we have equal pay, decent childcare and more opportunities to work flexible hours, many fathers will continue to find it hard to be there for their children and many women will continue to be disadvantaged at work. This is not necessarily the best solution for parents, children or employers. Equality at work or home depends on both mums’ and dads’ family responsibilities being acknowledged,” Melior said.

6. Which of the following topics does the headline of the article reflect?

- A Fathers can choose how they want to share the responsibilities of bringing up children
- B Fathers should be encouraged to participate in childcare more actively
- C Fathers are ready to participate in taking care of children
- D Working women want their partners to take over some childcare responsibilities

7. Why would many fathers like to attend parenting classes?

- A So they can be more confident in dealing with domestic issues
- B So they can learn how to do day-to-day childcare
- C Because they think it’s important to be involved in the day-to-day care of children
- D Because they want to attend important school events

8. How do Enforcer Dads view their role in childcare?

- A They don’t see childcare as their responsibility
- B They teach their children discipline by setting an example for them
- C They keep children amused while their partner gets on with housework
- D It’s important for them to be involved in the day-to-day care of their children

9. How do Fully Involved Dads find time to share childcare responsibilities with their partners?

- A They fit their work commitments to their partner’s arrangements
- B They often leave the office early
- C They run the home and the family, so their partners can focus on their professional duties
- D They think it’s their partner’s responsibility to negotiate flexibility at their workplace

10. What does Julie Mellor think employers should do?

- A They should give women more support so they can take on more of the childcare responsibilities at home
- B They should allow parents to work from home so they can look after their children
- C They should pay women more because they are often disadvantaged in the workplace
- D Employers should provide both parents with equal pay and flexible working hours

Task 3

Read the texts below. Match choices (A – H) to (11–16). There are two choices you do not need to use. Write your answers on the separate answer sheet.

Morning Habits of Celebrities You Can Adopt to Set up Each Day for a Win

11. Steve Jobs

In his speech to a graduating class at Stanford, Jobs said that each morning he looked in the mirror and asked himself the same question: “If today was the last day of my life, would I want to do what I’m doing today?” Whenever his answer was “no” for too many days in a row, he was sure that he needed to change something in his life. This kind of reevaluation of his work and desires every single day helped him pursue his dreams without forgetting about his true self.

12. Mark Zuckerberg

Of course, having lots of choices may seem awesome and even luxurious for some of us. But when you’re in a hurry in the morning, wasting those precious minutes on deciding what to wear or to eat may actually turn your day into a complete disaster. That’s why many wealthy and successful people have voluntarily chosen to eliminate their decisions throughout the day. One of the greatest examples of this is seen by Mark Zuckerberg who admits that he has about 20 identical grey T-shirts in his closet. This lack of choice helps him avoid decision fatigue and focus his attention on business.

13. Julianne Hough

Julianne Hough prefers to start her day on a positive note by performing her own morning gratitude ritual. Right after waking up at 6:30 AM, she sits up in her bed and thinks of 5 things she’s grateful for that either already happened to her or that she wants to do that day. Julianne also sets some small spiritual goals for the following 24 hours. This can be something like making 10 people smile throughout the day, for example. Only after this does she get out of bed, brush her teeth, and proceed with her other morning routines.

14. Richard Branson

It turns out that Branson is not the only early bird in his family. No matter what he’s up to later, Richard wakes up at around 5 AM, works out, and eats his breakfast. However, the most important part of his morning is spending time with his family. Branson says that some quality family time puts him in a great frame of mind before getting down to business. According to some studies, it also reduces stress, improves your health, and extends the length of your life.

15. Oprah Winfrey

The benefits of meditation are well-known to many – it helps reduce stress, improve productivity, boost creativity, and maintain general well-being. That’s why Oprah Winfrey usually includes meditation in her daily routine. Oprah starts each morning with 20 minutes of sitting meditation, not skipping holidays and weekends. She says that sitting in stillness fills her with hope, a sense of contentment, and deep joy.

16. Tim Ferriss

Tim Ferriss knows all about success, simply because he has interviewed thousands of great leaders from all walks of life. “Win the morning, win the day,” is Tim’s motto expressed in one of his books.

Ferriss chooses to start his days by clearing both his room and his mind, and that’s why he does the easiest but most annoying task first: he makes his bed. This simple action gives him a feeling of pride and accomplishment. Having done this, he can be sure that there is at least one thing in his life that is absolutely under his control, and all the rest is not worth worrying about.

Which person...

- A gets up early and takes a steam shower for 20 minutes each morning?
- B expresses appreciation on a regular basis while staying in bed?

- C does ordinary things to succeed in life?
- D gets rid of options?
- E works out with his/her friends?
- F finds inspiration in close relations?
- G reminds himself/herself of his/her dreams?
- H spends not less than a quarter of an hour in quiet thought in the morning?

Task 4

Read the text below. Choose from (A – H) the one which best fits each space (17–22). There are two choices you do not need to use. Write your answers on the separate answer sheet.

Ageing Like a Queen: the Secrets to Elizabeth's Longevity

Growing older, whilst becoming a Queen, are privileges denied to most of us. They require strength, self-control, resilience and, of course, great health. Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, the United Kingdom's longest-reigning monarch and the oldest head of state in the world, is succeeding at both.

But how can she remain amazingly comfortable in her own skin after all these decades?

She probably has very good genes to count on, but being in such a great form, at 96 years old, (17) _____, is also a matter of having a healthy lifestyle and great mental well-being. What's her secret? A surprisingly simple approach to nutrition, sensible exercise, a great sleep routine and, of course, a cup of Earl-Grey tea every morning (18) _____.

The Queen has never let life's drama get her down, regardless of the royal scandals (19) _____. Being resilient is probably one of her most popular traits. She is well known for staying on top of her work, spending leisure time, navigating both familiar and professional relationships, and managing to do it all while ageing gracefully.

The Queen knows the importance of continuing engagement in activities and relationships. As a result, she's never off duty, keeping her brain active, through work or educational projects. She sees public and voluntary service (20) _____.

(21) _____, the Queen definitely finds regular daytime breaks to rest and recharge. Her Majesty loves spending time outdoors walking her dogs around the grounds of Windsor Castle or Buckingham Palace and has also long been fond of horseback riding for most of her life. Whether spending time in nature or enjoying quiet time alone, it's no doubt she has contributed to her strong immune system.

The Queen's lifespan could be also a direct result of her excellent sleep routine. She typically goes to bed at about 11 pm to guarantee a solid 8 hours of rest – an absolute must for the hardworking Elizabeth – and arises every morning (22) _____.

What an amazing example Her Majesty is to all of us, with so many positive lessons from which we all could learn. Successful ageing is measured in both quantity of years and quality of life – not simply breathing but retaining vitality and enthusiasm, enough to make life well worth living.

(Adapted from: <https://www.crunchytales.com/ageing-like-a-queen-the-secrets-to-elizabeths-longevity/>)

- A as one of the most important elements of her work
- B feeling refreshed and ready to take on the day
- C to set off her day in the brightest possible way

- D to maintain a rigorous fitness regime
- E she had to endure over the years
- F brisk walks with her corgis and horseback riding
- G surpassing the average life expectancy for many women (at least in the UK)
- H despite being almost always hard at work

Beauty Filter: I want to Look Like My Selfie!

Photo filters on Instagram, Snapchat & Co. are very popular for editing selfies. In (33) _____ seconds, the skin is (34) _____ pure, the lips bigger and the nose smaller. However, the filtered selfie could lead to dissatisfaction with one's own appearance in the longer term.

A large proportion of young people (35) _____ several hours a day on social media. There they are confronted with supposedly perfect bodies and faces. Platforms like Instagram invite them (36) _____ the appearance of others with their own appearance every second. How true to reality photos in particular are is not always apparent (37) _____ first glance. How (38) _____ present themselves, however, has an influence on how users ultimately want to present themselves. Beauty filters can be one way of getting (39) _____ to the ideals of beauty conveyed online.

Selfies (40) _____ quickly _____ with a smartphone and can be edited with little effort. Changing one's appearance with the help of filters on Instagram, Snapchat or TikTok has become part of everyday life for many users. (41) _____, beauty filters in particular could lead to the actual appearance no longer being perceived as beautiful. The use of filters creates an "optimized self" that no longer corresponds to the real self. (42) _____ in the mirror then appears as a disappointment. Self-esteem suffers because one no longer finds oneself beautiful without filters.
